

CALL FOR PARTICIPANTS Training Course

DESCRIPTION OF THE PROJECT

Sexuality is an important topic for youth in this period of identity's building, but also for adults. In our societies, sexuality education has a very different place according to countries, but is always controversial. Young people are informed at school and in all possible medias, but there are not many places to discuss, exchange and educate ourselves about sexuality. Historically, sexuality education was a way to prevent disease and to control birth, which explains why it was very focused on medical point of view, and it was carrying many gender-based stereotypes. How can we imagine a different kind of sexuality education as youth workers, that would take into account education to relationship in a broader way? How can we deconstruct stereotypes and injunctions linked to sexuality?

To be able to reach as many people as possible, we will combine this topic with inclusive tools that are easy and accessible: comics and visual facilitation.

The project emerged after the trainers noticed that more and more comics are now covering various serious topics. How in our society might these tools now be educative and how can youth workers use them?

OBJECTIVES

- Deepen knowledge on the concepts and history of sexuality education;
- Acquire practical skills for making comics and visual facilitation to use them as facilitation and learning tools in sexuality education;
 - Exchanging good practices of participating organizations on the subjects of the training.

METHODOLOGY

The trainings will be based on methods and tools of non formal education, which will allow the participants to be in position of actor and animator, to intervene and to bring their experience as much as the trainers in order to stimulate an atmosphere of knowledge sharing and mutual enrichment.

They act together for the common interest of communities, in France or abroad, during short, mid and long term projects, in a large wide of thematic (planning education or social activities, preserving monuments, promoting cultural heritage...). This way, our actions enhance peace, solidarity, preservation of our heritage, tolerance between people... It also helps participants to be more open-minded, to gain skill that bring them being more autonomous and it promotes international mobility.

Our delegation in Auvergne is more specifically managing regional projects and supporting volunteers that we host or send. In our team, we have two full-time employees and some volunteers too.
